SUMMER SOLSTICE CELEBRATION

Very soon will be the first day of summer!

What is the first day of summer?
The day changes a little bit depending on the year.
This year 2020, the first day of summer will be June 20th for those who live in Spain.

Why that day?
Because that day will take place the summer solstice.

What is the summer solstice?
The summer solstice is the time when the sun reaches its highest point at noon, resulting in the longest day of the year and therefore the shortest night of the year.

For many people around the world this is a great day to celebrate and there are many different traditions, parties, celebrations, rituals and events to welcome the summer.

In Art is Back we are going to organize an IMAGINARY SUMMER SOLSTICE CELEBRATION. Of course, we want to invite people to come, so we have to create an invitation card to send to them.
This INVITATION CARD is going to be our assignment.

HOW TO CREATE AN IVITATION CARD

Anytime we celebrate an event and we want people to come over, we need to inform that people about the event.
There are many ways to do this:
A phone call, an email, a message, a letter, a post in social media, a flyer, a poster... etc., but all this options have to answer the following questions: What? Who? When? and Where?

What? The reason to celebrate.
For example: A birthday, a music festival...
Who? The people in charge of organizing this celebration.
For example: you, a group of friends, the school teachers...
When? The date and the time the celebration is happening.
For example: May 15th at 5pm.
Where? The place where the celebration is happening.
For example: at VMS, in the Patacona beach, at your house...

Materials

- To make an INVITATION CARD we need cardboard paper or paper.
- You decide the size and the format of the invitation.
- Could be one of these options or any other:

- To create the ILLUSTRATION (drawing, painting or collage) for the card you can use any technique and any material that you like.

Card information

- The title of the card is: SUMMER SOLSTICE CELEBRATION and must appear in the cover together with the Illustration (drawing, painting or collage).
- The date of the celebration is JUNE 20th.
- The rest of the information is up to you: where?, who? and what time?

Here is my card invitation as an example of how all the information and the illustration works together.

In this pages you can see several examples of flyers and posters announcing the summer solstice celebration.
You can see how they create a composition combining illustration and writing information.
Almost all of them use the image of the sun and warm colors related to summer. You can follow some of these examples or create your own design.

Have a lot of fun!

Summer Solstice Party!

A MESSAGE FROM YOUR HOSTS -
As we enjoy the summer solstice, we are reminded of the world's natural wonders and their warm embrace of all living creatures. We are inspired by Earth's beauty and sustained by its riches with everything we need for beautiful lives.
The Nature Conservancy is a profoundly effective organization, diligently pursuing a mission to conserve the lands and waters on which all life depends. In doing so, it perpetuates nature's goodness for the benefit of all Earth's inhabitants.
It would be our great joy for you to join us on the evening of June 20 to both celebrate the Conservancy's work and, more importantly, to garner support for its practical, collaborative and science-based approaches to conservation. Please join us for a purposeful evening, featuring conservation conversation, great food and music, and, with your attendance, extraordinary fellowship!
With humility and appreciation,
Isis and Garry Jones
